

Terms & Conditions

- Registration: You must complete the registration process, including providing accurate and up-to-date information about yourself, in order to attend the conference or seminar.
- Confirmation: Your attendance may be subject to confirmation by the organizer. They may send you a confirmation email or provide you with a registration confirmation number. Keep this information handy for future reference.
- Attendee Conduct: You are expected to conduct yourself in a respectful and professional manner throughout the event. Any disruptive or inappropriate behavior may result in removal from the premises without refund.
- Intellectual Property: The organizer or event may hold the rights to any intellectual property, such as presentations, materials, or recordings, that are shared during the conference or seminar. Unauthorized distribution or use of such materials may be prohibited.
- Changes and Cancellations by the Organizer: The organizer reserves the right to make changes to the event schedule, speakers, venue, or any other aspect of the conference or seminar. In case of cancellation by the organizer, you may be entitled to a refund of the registration fee, but they may not be liable for any additional expenses incurred by you.
- Liability: The terms and conditions may include disclaimers of liability, stating that the organizer and its affiliates are not responsible for any loss, injury, or damage to personal property during the event.
- Photography and Recording: The organizer may state their policy on photography, videography, and audio recording during the event. They may prohibit or restrict such activities, or require prior permission for any recordings.
- Privacy: The organizer should outline their data protection and privacy practices. This may include how your personal information will be collected, used, stored, and shared.
- It's important to carefully read and understand the terms and conditions before registering for a conference or seminar. If you have any questions or concerns, it's advisable to reach out to the event organizer for clarification.